President's Message
By Larry Browning

It's election time again as anyone who has watched TV in the last few months knows. Often on national news programs they keep mentioning how cheap it is for the candidates to advertise on South Dakota TV and that's why we get bombarded by ads. I, for one, will be glad when it's all over.

One of the benefits of being a Weather MINDS member is that you are not subjected to campaigning. However we do need to fill some offices. Joanne Anderson has indicated that she will not be able to be vice president next year. However, she has lined up programs to take us into the summer. That means that whoever should be vice president would only have two programs to plan (with lots of time and help). Also Tim Masters has indicated that he will have problem making our next meetings because of his expected work schedule. This means the secretary position is open. Please let us know if you are willing to help in either of these positions.

The last meeting at Donovan's Model Airport was fun. I even got to fly one of the planes without crashing it (thanks to John Donovan taking control at critical times). It is an interesting hobby and one which
